The Catawba Angels welcome participants the fourth Monday of each month between 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. to make quilts and other handmade items that are given to children and adults throughout the county. Persons of all skill levels are invited to get involved by sewing, knitting, crocheting or assisting with finishing details.

People in the community can help the Catawba Angels in various ways. The group needs donations of yarn, fabric and batting and will welcome any new members who want to make items to be donated.

The group meets at the Catawba County Agricultural Resources Center, 1175 S. Brady Avenue, Newton. Volunteers are always welcome and don't need to stay the whole time. They can participate according to their schedules.

For More Information: about programs available through the Catawba County Center of NC Cooperative Extension call:

Glennie Daniels at 828/465-8250 - Email: her at glennie_daniels@ncsu.edu